

Mr. Greathouse assignment April 21, 2020

What I challenge students to do is simply this: pick something up and read it. It can be a magazine article, a book, a blog, anything. In today's world, I understand we can forget to challenge ourselves and push ourselves to do something that we may not want to do. Once you read whatever it may be, shoot me the specifics of it. (Title, author, date it was written if there is one, and a review). The review can be a paragraph. Just simply give me your opinion. What did you like? What did you not like? Would you recommend? Why? Push yourselves, students, to do something you don't enjoy doing. Find something you like and roll with it! Talk to you soon. Stay healthy!
